The conference was arranged by the governor at the request of the pipe line companies and the board of directors assured the head of the state government that it placed itself in his hands as far as future ac-tion along this line was concerned. The failure of the people to manifest proper interest in the movement once did not discourage the board of directors who feel certain that it is only a matter of education. It was rged that the people did not realize that joining this association meant an expression of support which mere words would not convey. There were only three members of the association enrolled as domestic consumers at Clarksburg yesterday and only three in Fairmont though industrial consumers joined in great numbers. three Fairmont joiners on the first day were C.
